WHAT HE SAW HERE.

George E. Clark, editor of the Evans-

COUNTY INSTITUTE.

The teachers of Gibson county met in annual institute at the court house Monday morning. There was a large attendance the first morning, the roll showing 168 teachers present. An excellent program had been previously arranged and the teachers showed their appreciation of that fact by prompt attendance.

Miss Maggie Trippett and Mr. W. C. Yeager were appointed secretaries, and Miss Doye Robinson and Mr. J. W. Myrick in charge of the music, which has been excellent.

Prof. W. W. Parsons, president of the State Normal school, and Prof. E. E. Smith, late professor in Purdue University, are the instructors, and are giving instruction far superior to any ever given in an institute in the county. They are among the leading educators in the state and their work is highly satisfactory to teachers and visitors.

Prof. Amzi Atwater, of the State University, delivered a lecture Monday night on "Rome as I saw it," and Prof. E. A. Bryan, president of Vincennes University, lectured Tuesday night on the subject "The Origin, Influence and Destiny of the English Language." The lectures were both very interesting and a large audience was present each night.

The institute thus far has been a decided success and the interest increases with each day. The instruction given is of a high order, and if teachers follow up the lines of thought suggested by the instructors they will find themselves greatly benefited, and will contribute something toward bringing their chosen calling out upon a higher plane where it will be recognized as a distinct profession.

President Parsons is giving instruction in "Educational Science," "Language," "Mental Science," and "Moral Training." Prof. Smith's subjects are "Arithmetic," "History," "Literature" and "School Management."

Prof. Smith will lecture to-night on "Dante," and a lecture will be given tomorrow night by Prof. John M. Coulter, of Wabash College.

An examination of applicants for license will be held in the superintendent's room on Saturday.

CARRIER PIGEONS.

George W. Hill received four beautiful carrier pigeons from a friend in New Albany last Saturday with the request that they be liberated at a stated hour on the following morning so as to see what length of time it would take them to get back. The birds attracted a great deal of attention, being the first carries pigeons ever seen here. Mr. Hill telegraphed his friend that the birds would be turned loose at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. The basket containing the four birds was taken to the public square and promptly at 8 o'clock they were turned loose. They hovered about town for a time and then disappeared. It is not known just exactly at what time they started for New Albany, they being reported seen in town as late as half past eight. However they got to their destination at 12 o'clock noon, having traveled a distance of 110 miles. To the tail of one of the birds the following telegram was attached.

PATOKA.

We have an evidence of prosperity in our merchants report stock of goods.

Many readers will be sorry Mrs. Nixon will at an early opportunity visit Arkanna, where she will at daughter.

The abundant accumulation of this market has presented a problem for some time. The increase in population, the animation of our populace, the wanted and hopeful condition.

A very commendable feature organization and one that gives protection and increased help in maintenance of weekly life by the young people.

Dr. P. H. Curtner, the eye of this township, is regular visits here, looking after the wants. He takes quite an interest in endeavoring to put our school condition, which he contemplates in session six months.

The teachers from here a suitable and interesting association institute this week. The idea is consummated by the county as is superior to all other that have heretofore been in the county.

Rev. Strickland, a Baptist much ability, preached a sermon at Philomathean hall. His subject was the gospel was entertaining. He expressed himself in regard to two great social evils, temperance and scandal.

The time and place of the M. E. General Conference are. This event is doubtless looked with much interest by the fraternity, and, it is presumed, greater interest in regard to the appointing power, which the locations of service of the pastors for at least one year, two most of them and three years successful few. This complete assignment of work can not be justified that all membership is satisfied, or that every man is to his proper sphere, but that deliberate discretion in normalizing conditions and in field in its most efficient situation.

We have Gladstone's rule of home rule, we have a domestic rule, we have a majority of people is highly commendable, but we kind of home rule that is not in desired results, which allow to run reckless and in control on the streets, at all hours, and disapprobation is all, and can be contributed to the same condition of these thought missionary bent of mind can scope for exercise in development rule that will govern this million young citizens. It is hoped and all others interested in the of the young, will exercise the and co-operate to a desired result the children be put under the and discipline of the day school beginning of the term.
