Tom Lawson's advice is for everybody to sell his stocks in any way connected with "the system." If everybody sells, then who is going to buy?

The Democratic editors held their association meeting at French Lick. This is supposed to be a good place for editors to meditate and to form spirited resolutions.

The Noblesville Ledger says that Tom Johnson has his eye on the Democratic presidential nomination. There is no doubt that Johnson has just about enough heresies in his mind to qualify him for that nomination.

Eugene Debs says in so many words that the interest of the employer and those of the employe are in direct conflict. Others build up agreements upon this tacit assumption when they dare not assert it. We prefer the Debs method, though we have little patience and no use whatever for the heresy. Debs does less harm when he makes this direct assertion than the demagogues who resort to the inuendo founded upon it.

W. U. L. L. Meeting. Woman's Union Label League met Friday evening in Central Labor Union hall and took preliminary steps to suitable arrangements for Labor Day. The ladies were very enthusiastic and signified their willingness to make a memorable one. Just what the ladies have in mind is not known at present, but announcement will be made in due time. A special meeting is called for Friday evening, August 4, when all members are urgently requested to be present. The League is gaining every day in point of membership and enthusiasm and much zeal and push is being made for the different labels.

CITIES' DISTINCTIVE SMELL

Odd Effluvia Which Greet the Nostrials in the Capitals of Europe.

Some sensible essayist should take the smell of place as subject, says the London Chronicle. Paris, for example, is highly pervaded with the odor of burning charcoal and, coming from Paris, to London one is newly assailed by the appeal of soot. Cologne has a reputation, long undeserved, for smells other than that of its famous "water," and it has been said that in years of old a blind man could find his way about Cologne by following his nose. Moscow has an odd perfume of its own. It suggests cranberries of peculiar pungency. And it never leaves the nose. Garlic, of course, is the basic smell that greets the stranger who lands at Calais. But the most curious of the smells of place is that of St. Petersburg. The present writer had often wondered what it was, having detected it even between the sheets of his bed at the most exorbitant hotel. On his third visit he was driven in a drosky from the station with a fresh young English girl, who had never been away from Kent before. "Now, do you smell anything?" he asked. "Yes," said the girl. "Old boots." That is the smell of St. Petersburg. Centenarian shoe leather.

Queer Physical Facts. The two sides of a person's face are never alike. The eyes are out of line in two cases out of five and one eye is stronger than the other in seven persons out of ten. The right eye is also, as a rule, higher than the left. Only one person in 15 has perfect eyes, the largest percentage of defects prevailing among fair-haired people. The smallest vibration of sound can be distinguished better with one ear than with both. The nails of two fingers never grow with the same rapidity, that of the middle finger growing the fastest, while that of the thumb grows slowest. In 54 cases out of 100 the left leg is shorter than the right.—Indianapolis News.

IMMENSE VEIN OF COAL FOUND IN NEW MINE

Will Rival Famous West Virginia "Raymond" Best Bituminous in the United States--More Trouble at School House.

(By C. Claude Casey.)

Bicknell, Ind., July 21.—(Special)—The weather is playing with the farmers in this vicinity, although it is very careful not to do any further damage. A heavy rain fell here yesterday while a thresher north of town continued to work. The straw of the wheat in this particular field where the thresher was at work was not even dampened and the thresher continued threshing until six o'clock when the men went home as usual.

Many of the Knox and Pine Knot mines failed to go to work this morning on account of the rain which was falling and through which they would have had to go to their work. George W. Purcell, who is international organizer, and Wellington O'Connor, who is district president, of the United Mine Workers' Union, delivered interesting addresses to the miners of the several locals of this field last night. Mr. Purcell has been here several times before and being well known to most of the miners his address was greeted with applause.

An unconfirmed report is afloat here that the vein of coal struck on George Wampler's farm yesterday was eight feet thick. Some have it, ten feet, although it is thought that the vein is the same that was struck by the Freeman company which is about seven feet in thickness. The new vein of coal found here is the best quality of bituminous coal in this part of the country and it is a close rival to the best bituminous coal in the United States. It is claimed that the coal is second only to the grade known as West Virginia "Raymond" which is considered the best in the United States. The Lynn company has named the new coal "Indiana Raymond."

Chas. Wallace and Chas. Freeman were business visitors in Indianapolis yesterday. Peter Hoover of Edwardsport, was a business caller here yesterday. Mrs. W. V. Barr was a visitor in Vincennes today. Mrs. Laura Purcell of Washington, visited Mrs. George Godwin here yesterday.

The men who have been working on the new school house failed to get their pay Saturday, and have refused to work. L. R. Fawns, foreman, has tried to shoo them away with one plasterer is finishing up the plastering. The plastering is all done, with the exception of white coating the lower halls. It is not thought the building will be completed in time for an early beginning of school.

"Old Lotsagurli has a lawsuit on his hands." "Who's suing him?" "Boggs, his next-door neighbor Boggs claims damages for three fine dogs that have run away since the old man's second daughter began to take vocal lessons."—Cleveland Leader.

The More Important Question.

"I know, old chappie," said Dobbs, "she has her faults and a temper, and all that, but I— I love her, and can't live without her." "Just so," calmly replied his friend, "but the question isn't that. Can you live with her? That's it, old fellow—can you live with her?"—Tit-Bits.

NO CASE AGAINST HIM.

But the Evidence Was So Strong He Could Smell the Meat Himself.

The colonel and I were stopping in a town in Georgia and went over to the courthouse to listen to the trial of a colored man for stealing a hog. He had no lawyer, and the plaintiff went on and stated that he saw the prisoner in the woods—saw him chasing a hog—went to his cabin and smelled fresh pork, and a few rods from the door came across hoops and bristles. He had carried some away with him, and now had them in court. The colonel asked permission to say a few words for the prisoner, and this being granted he said:

"It is said that this colored man was seen chasing a hog. Where is the corroborative evidence? Does it follow that because one chases a hog he kills him? The plaintiff swears he smelled fresh pork. Can he be sure it was not chicken or mutton? He found hoops and bristles. Can he identify these as belonging to his hog? Where are his marks of ownership? Your honor must see that there is no case against the prisoner."

"I'll have to decide that there isn't," replied the justice, with a sigh, and the prisoner was told to go, relates the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An hour later, as we were walking about the town, we met him on a side street, and the colonel said:

"Well, you got out of it all right, eh?"

"Yess, boss, thanks to you, but lemme tell you dey run me so powerful clus on de case dat I could smell dat fresh meat myself, and I'ze willin' to own up dat it didn't smell a bit like chicken or mutton!"
