3-DAY LABOR DAY CELEBRATION STARTS SATURDAY AT O. CITY

Oakland City's Main street has taken on a festive look this week as decorations of bunting and flags have been placed on the store buildings and hung across the streets in preparation for the gala weekend Labor Day celebration here.

The Southern Indiana Labor Day Association has planned three days chock full of activities and entertainment to please the whole family. Free parking, free ice water, and plenty of shade west of the amphitheatre for family picnics will add to the pleasure of those attending.

Saturday night a horse show is scheduled to start at 7 p. m., with prizes to be awarded in each of 10 classes. Henry Blythe and Mer-tis Underhill will be in charge.

The religious service will begin at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, with Ralph Cottrell of Boonville in charge of the program. The Rev. Wilbur Teasley, pastor of Oakland City Methodist Church, will be the speaker. Special music will be pre-

At 8 p. m. Sunday an amateur show will feature 12 acts.

The Labor Day program will begin at 9:45 a. m. with Henry Ma-son of Oakland City as master of ceremonies and George Dout, vice-president of the Indiana Farm Bureau, as guest speaker. A pa-rade will begin at 10 a. m. and will include bands and floats. The main address will be given by Jo-seph Shannon, international repre-sentative of the UMWA at 2 p. m.

Free acts from the Barnes-Ca-ruthers Agency will be featured on the stage at 2:30 p. m. and 8 p. m. on Monday. Special musical con-certs by the Hillsiders band of Boonville are scheduled for 1:30 p. m. and 6 p. m. Monday.

ter to stop his crying and then made up a wild kidnap story

Mrs. Christina Tegerides touch-ed off a full-scale kidnap alert with her hysterical story that a diaper saleswoman had cut her with a knife and taken her two-month-old baby, George.

The alert was called off after several hours when the baby's body, wrapped in a blanket, was found in a closet shelf of the wo-man's home. Told of the discov-ery Mrs. Tegerides said the baby had drowned accidentally during his bath.

Later, the woman confessed that she became nervous when the baby started to cry during his bath and drowned him.

"I didn't like the crying so I put him under the water to stop his crying," she said. "I feel very sorry for what I did."

"She's a very sick woman," one police official said. He said even after the baby's body was found Mrs. Tegerides would talk as though he still was missing. She said after she drowned the baby she tried to give it artificial respr-ation but hid the body when it failed.

She said she thought about it awhile and then invented the kid-naping story. She used a paring knife to cut and scratch her arms and then ran screaming to her mother's apartment upstairs.

The district attorney's office said Mrs. Tegerides had been treated factors found to affect in the annual (August) of hogs are corn and personal disposable income after taxes.

Three factors, pigs saved, income and corn explained 89 per cent of variation in the annual average of hogs during the period. Cold storage holdings is another factor that is linked with hog prices.

Coming marketing year August 1, the agriculturists predict that with a four per cent increase in income, a nine per cent increase in the size of the crop, a 16 per cent decrease in the size of the hog will probably cause hog average about 16 per cent the average of the last year.

About this fall's price of hogs all factors considered will show a decrease of 13 or 14 per cent in the price of hogs as compared to the average of the last year.

National Plow contest will be held on September 14th at a 2,000-foot course eight miles northeast of Indianapolis.

Soil conservation practice applicable to rolling lands of the midwest will be demonstrated.

Contour and level land contests are scheduled for two days. Lt. Gov. Hardaway will be the official starter of the first state match on September 10 at 10 a. m. Wednesday, and George W. Wickard, speaker of the Indiana House of Representatives, will be the official starter of the level land match on Thursday, September 11 at 10 a. m.

National Contour match will be held on Friday, September 12 at 10 a. m. Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, as the starter. Henry F. Schrick will officiate at the National match on Saturday, September 13 at 10 a. m.

Summer is pinkeye season. Pinkeye seldom results in loss of body weight or reduced production. It is an infectious disease which is transmitted by contact and insects. It is not contagious in any age, size, sex or breed and there is little immunity developed against an attack of the disease. Exposed cats and dogs should be vaccinated.
