Boonville Labor Day Celebration Underway

All roads lead to Boonville this week-end for the big celebration of the Southern Indiana Labor Day association. No special observance is scheduled in Princeton.

The Boonville program, which got underway at the Boonville fairgrounds with a horse show Saturday afternoon and night, will continue today with a sacred service at 2:30 p. m., with Rev. Don McAnnally, of Princeton, the speaker. A free amateur show of 12 acts will be staged at 8 p. m.

Milton Board of Princeton, vice president of the association, will be master of ceremonies for today's program.

A gigantic parade will start moving at 10 a. m. Monday from the Boonville courthouse to the fairgrounds. Finishing touches are being put on elaborate floats by the various union locals. All UMWA locals in this area will be represented in the colorful line of march, along with business men's groups, Girl and Boy Scouts and mounted members of the various Saddle clubs.

The Dixieland band from Camp Atterbury will lead the parade and the Princeton high school band also will take part, preceding the float and members of the Kings mine local.

Speakers on the Monday afternoon program will be Charles Ferguson, member of the international UMWA executive board in charge of safety; George Doupe, of the Indiana Farm Bureau, and Rep. D. Bailey Merrill of Evansville, eighth district congressman.

The Thomas Joyland rides will be on the midway and the Barnes-Caruthers shows will present a program of headline acts on the stage in front of the grandstand.

Former Convict Will Speak At Local Church

The Princeton Nazarene church will present Bill Mills of Texas who will present a program designed for the Prevention of Crime and Parental and Juvenile Delinquency, Wednesday night in the church auditorium beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Mills will tell of his marvelous conversion while behind prison bars and will wear the prison uniform to show how disgraceful it is to be a convict. He will also have the electric chair with him and will demonstrate "The Last Mile" walk of condemned prisoners and will tell how he saw 16 men electrocuted in the electric chair. Mr. Mills will also demonstrate "The Whipping Bat," which is still used in many prisons today.

THE LEN-PATRICKS

The Len-Patricks

Appearing with the Barnes-Caruthers Shows at the Labor Day celebration at the Boonville Fair Grounds for afternoon and evening performances, Monday, Sept. 7, will be the Len-Patricks, one of the most talented trampoline acts in the country.

This young couple, Leonard and Patricia Gage in private life, have loomed high in the entertainment world due to their agility and skill on the trampoline.

Patricia, who hails from Chicago, developed her talents at an early age when she enrolled in one of the best acrobatic schools in the country. She won practically every competition she entered before turning professional.

Leonard, her husband and manager of the act, is a native of Minneapolis. His acrobatic talents were handed down from his father, said to be one of the first acrobats to appear in a trampoline act. Gage's training began during his adolescence when he traveled with his father. He has developed into a superb artist and is today considered one of the greatest ground tumblers in the entertainment world.

The Len-Patricks' performance of difficult feats and aerial maneuvers has brought them wide acclaim both in this country and abroad.

Many other headliners are scheduled to appear with this show, which is being sponsored by the Labor Day Association of Subdistrict 1, District 11, United Mine Workers of America.
