Heads Navy

BE HELD FOR APPOINTMENT OF YOUNG MAN FROM THIS SECTION.

John W. Boehne, Jr., representative in Congress, First district, has received official notification from the adjutant general from the army and navy department that the First Congressional district of Indiana will have one vacancy in the military academy at West Point, New York, and one vacancy in the naval academy at Annapolis, Maryland, in 1932. This means that a young man will be appointed as principal, another as first alternate, and another as second alternate for each of the above places, sometime between now and April of next year, when the final mental examinations will be conducted.

Anyone who has seen active service in either the military or naval establishments of this country realizes full well the value of efficient officers, especially when these establishments are called upon for actual defense of our country. In order that every young man desiring to embark upon a military or naval career, will be given an equal opportunity for qualifying for appointment to the above academies, the Civil Service Commission will conduct a preliminary hearing for all candidates, applying, the early part of January, 1932.

The one receiving the highest rating will be appointed principal; next highest will be appointed first alternate; third will be appointed third alternate. This examination will probably be conducted in Evansville, with no expense to the candidates.

Prospective candidates are requested to write Representative Boehne.
