HUNDREDS TOOK PART IN LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

The Labor Day celebration in Princeton Monday drew a large crowd and an excellent program of events was given at the fair grounds including races, an address by Paul Mauck, 15 years old, of Evansville and a fireworks program at night.

The parade Monday morning was participated in by more than 1000. There were a number of appropriate floats but there were few banners carried by the men in line. None of the banners made reference to the present railway shopmen's strike in any manner. The men did not march as organizations.

RESCUERS HEAR SOUNDS WHICH MAY BE SIGNALS

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 5.—Rumors that miners working to rescue 47 men held prisoner in the Argonaut gold mine had heard signal blasts from within flew around like wild-fire today.

Jackson grasped at the rumors like drowning men at straws, for they served to fan the dim hope that the men would be found alive.

Forty-eight hours was set today as the time still standing between the present and the possible hour of rescue. Much depends on the condition of the old drifts which soon will be

WIRE FLASHES

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 5.—Bert Jewell today sent a message to his fellow strikers from his hiding place. Jewell urged the men to stand firm, declaring they were labor's hope in the great industrial war which has raged ever since the world war ended.

The message was printed in the shopmen's weekly bulletin:

"We don't appear to be able to get justice, food, clothing or shelter from the president, congress or the labor board," Jewell stated.

"Therefore we must rely on ourselves and ourselves only."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Aiming at the federal injunction, Rep. Huddleston, Democrat, of Alabama, today introduced a bill which would extend the malfeasance statutes to include any official of the government who by means of his authority deprives or attempts to deprive any person of his lawful freedom of speech, or press, or assemblage.

Huddleston contended that the Chicago injunction is illegal. He would have any government agent found guilty committed to prison or fined up to $10,000.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The government will not attempt to abridge the constitutional liberties of striking shopmen by a too rigid enforcement of the Daugherty injunction it was said today at the White House. The only purpose of the injunction it was declared was to prevent interference with interstate commerce. It was intimated the government will not attempt to prohibit publication of articles
