

J. P. Yochum, President, Organized Exhibit in Sheep and Hogs This Last Year—More Pens Necessary.

Superintendent Joseph P. Yochum, of the live stock department, of the Gibson County Fair association, stated to day that he had procured the services of W. B. Anderson, of Lafayette, Ind., as judge of hogs and sheep at the fair this year. Mr. Anderson is an expert judge of live stock and comes highly recommended.

While attending Boonville fair Thursday Mr. Yochum was informed by one of the exhibitors at the fair there he would send a carload of cattle, sheep and hogs to the Gibson county fair this year.

"Every sheep and hog pen on the fair grounds has been spoken for," said Mr. Yochum today, "and we are now building some new ones. I think it can safely be said that the live stock exhibit this year will exceed that of last season, which was regarded as the banner year in the history of the association."

Mrs. James Hartwell left this morning for her home at Terre Haute, after a visit with friends and relatives here.

reported to be slightly improved today, although Mr. Carnahan was restless last night. The man rested better, sleeping five hours without the administration of an anaesthetic. They are both at the Sanatorium. On account of the lad's chest being badly crushed, he was placed in a plaster jacket which he will have to wear until the fractured ribs have united. The right lung was punctured by one of the broken ribs and while the wound made is dangerous, it is believed the lad will recover.

Besides an injury to the hip Mr. Carnahan sustained a broken rib and other painful bruises.
