AWAIT MEETING - AT TERRE HAUTE

DISPUTE OVER DAY WORKERS' PAY LIKELY TO BE SETTLED TOMORROW

W. H. Raney, vice president of the Indiana miners, returned here on the "plug" last night from Winslow and Ayrshire. He reports that at No. 4 mine, at Winslow, 65 or 70 men reported for work but were sent home because three or four of the day men had not reported. It was Raney's opinion that the mine could have operated with the force that reported.

No. 6 mine whistle blew for work, Raney said, and when the men reported for work they found part of the dynamo had been removed for repairs. Miners also reported for work at No. 8 Ayrshire but no steam was up and the men returned home. At No. 7 Ayrshire some men reported for work today but the force was insufficient to operate the mine.

Little mine, east of here, was said to be working today but the report was not confirmed.

"Watchful waiting" characterized the situation at Princeton. In all probability the men would now stay out until after the meeting between operators and miners at Terre Haute tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The operators of the Eleventh district meet at Terre Haute tonight to fix on their program for tomorrow's meeting.

A notice sent out by President Ed Stewart, Vice President Raney and Secretary-Treasurer William Mitch to the miners of the district Saturday urged the men to return to work until settlement of the day men's wage dispute can be made at Tuesday's meeting.

Raney said today that not much stress should be laid on the report that Central competitive district bargaining had been discontinued for good. The report to districts in the present case is more for the purpose of handling this specific dispute.

Miners and operators of the Illinois bituminous field are meeting today at Chicago and it was forecast that an adjustment would be reached there.

CLOSE CALL FOR JUDGE ROBINSON

HIS CAR GOES OVER BRIDGE BUT HE AND DOG COMPANION ARE UNHURT

While driving from his farm yesterday

WILL TURN OUT ON WEDNESDAY

CITY GENERALLY WILL HONOR OHIO'S GOVERNOR ON HIS VISIT HERE

The presence of Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, in Princeton Wednesday, will be considered by many people as an occasion of interest to the city entirely away from its significance in the light of Governor Cox being the presidential candidate of the Democratic party. A candidate for the first office in the land, when he hails from either of the two major parties, is by that token a national figure. Besides Governor Cox, as the three-time governor of his state, is entitled to consideration. So it will be that when Princeton turns out Wednesday, as it surely will, and probably a good part of Gibson county as well, it would be a shrewd political sharp who could tell from the big gathering just how all those sight seers and on-lookers are going to vote in November. But be that as it may, "Jimmie" Cox will get a welcome here.

Incidentally the host of widely known correspondents, who always accompany or trail an important candidate, will be here that day and Princeton herself is bound to make an impression, good or bad. Princeton expects to make a good impression.

The forecast for the day may be summed up briefly thus:

Governor Cox comes in from Evansville on his special at 11:15 a. m. The two coaches will be on the rear of the Evansville special. Probably part of the Evansville delegation will parade up town from a first stop made out at Makemson avenue, the governor and his party being brought on up to the station. This however is subject to change.

The reylewing stand will be in north Main street, it is now thought, in Walnut street, just off Main, and facing west. The governor will be taken to the stand and will witness the procession. Then he will go to the Hotel Kidd where he will have luncheon. There will be no effort to make this a social dinner party as Governor Cox will wish to rest as much as possible before going out to the fair grounds where he is to speak at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Alice McCullough, of Ft. Wayne, Democratic woman's state chairman, will be here and Mrs. Lauenstein, of Evansville, vice chairman. The woman delegates will go to the fair grounds early and their part of the speaking will be over by the time Governor Cox

HARDING AND HUGHES TO MEET

MEETING AT MARION—NOMINEE PLANS A BUSY WEEK

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
 (United Press Correspondent.)

MARION, O., Aug. 23.—Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for president in 1916, will come to Marion tomorrow to see Senator Harding. It was announced at Republican headquarters today.

Hughes comes at the request of Harding. Nothing was available as to the matter to be discussed. They may take up the material to be used in the Indiana speech which Harding is now preparing.

Senator Harding was hard at work on the most important speech of his campaign—the one to be delivered to the Indiana delegation here Saturday.

This week promises to be the biggest week of the campaign thus far. Tomorrow a delegation of Republicans will call on him. Wednesday he will address a meeting of railroad men at Gallon, near here.
