When a woman marries for money she very often gets nothing else.

The marathon dances at Evansville are over.
 Now that they are over, "what have we?"

A man brags that he has worn the same collar button for forty-three years. The collar button manufacturers are not sending any flowers.

Some people with wild imaginations say Texas is going Republican. When Texas deserts the Democratic party the donkey will have brayed its last bray.

Everything is set for the biggest Labor Day celebration in the history of Princeton. The big occasion next Monday has every promise of breaking all records in attendance and variety and excellence of program.

A man in Chili has just died leaving his fourteenth wife a widow. The other thirteen he favored all died. The surviving widow is to be congratulated on having stayed to the finish.

The youngsters of the city have had their last supervised swim, and the management is to be congratulated that the season has passed without a single accident to mar the pleasure that has come to the hundreds of little boys and girls of Princeton.

Some of the Democratic speakers are pleading for "a smile in the White House." We are strong for "smiles," but it takes more than a "smile" to guide the destinies of the greatest nation the world has ever known. It is better to have the people "smiling" because all is well with the nation.

Another group in England would simpli-and purify the language by using only wor-by Saxon origin. Thus, eoh would be substituted for horse, lig for flame, rio for warrifolde for earth and so on.

Much as we might desire to encourage new idea, there is always the fear that the ultimate result of the beneficent activities these group movements will be the refinement of the mother tongue and simplicity that no of us will be able to understand it. Launch simultaneously, even two such amplificati-systems would make life altogether too complicated. The possibility of the casual read-getting a hearty chuckle out of a typograpcal error that was concealed in a Saxon sotence written in forty-two characters for a ample, wouldn't be one in a million

THE LEGION CONVENTION

Indianapolis News:

The Indiana department of the Ameri-Legion adjourned its annual convention at Lafayette Tuesday after four days of activi-which demonstrated a healthy condition a strong allegiance to the welfare prograwhich distinguishes the organization as no b-interested now in public service than it wa decade ago, when its members then orgized as the country's defense force, foug-through the war. The Legionnaires furth-proved that ten years have drained none-their capacity for enjoying the robapastimes of the army, navy and marine corp-

Among other resolutions passed by the convention was one praising the Indiana nation-guard as "the best in the country." Makin-a certain allowance for state loyalty, a tribute, coming from men with firsthand knowledge of what a good land defense for-should be, is particularly important. T-guard has earned much commendation f-working back from the principle that the fi-duty of the nation's second line of land defense is to keep in fit condition than an army guard. Resolutions urging improvement in the federal hospital at Marion also expresed a popular sentiment.
